Ken Henry surrounded by his "crowd" at the recent Earth Day Hike at Rancho Cañada del Oro Open Space Preserve

FEELING CROWDED? THANK GOD!

That same day Jesus went out of the house and sat beside the sea. Such great crowds gathered around him that he got into a boat and sat there, while the whole crowd stood on the beach. And he told them many things in parables ...

- Matthew 13:1-3

Wouldn't it be nice to have a problem like this?

"Sorry, Jesus, there are so many people here to see you, we've run out of room for the podium you were supposed to speak from this morning. So, you'll need to shove off from the beach in this leaky old skiff we found floating among the reeds."

Of course, we could speculate that the disciples didn't plan adequately or pay attention to details. I'm fairly confident they misjudged the number of bulletins they needed that morning.

And with another occasion on the horizon - Jesus feeding 5,000 people with two fish and five loaves of bread - we could hope that the disciples would receive a crash course in both quantity cooking and crowd control. But alas, they did not. Things like this are bound to happen, especially when the scent of something good is blowing in the wind.

Let me put it this way: when an event we have organized attracts more people than expected, we can't complain too much - can we?

In seminary, I remember planning a spaghetti dinner youth fundraiser at the First Presbyterian Church in Tuckerton, NJ. On Sunday mornings, in this small church, we typically had about 40 to 50 worshipers, and that's the number we expected for our fundraiser. But apparently the word got out around town, so when 150 people showed up, my fledgling youth group was completely overwhelmed, as was I. Indeed, many of the folks who had come to eat ended up washing dishes afterward, and during the meal, I made numerous trips to the grocery store to buy more French bread and noodles.

From my point of view, it was Hell's Kitchen! And yet, in the aftermath, I couldn't help but notice the energy and excitement this event brought to the church. In fact, the following year, someone donated large cooking pots for more boiling noodles, and suddenly, we had a team of new faces assisting our youth in the kitchen. And, no surprise, we had over two hundred people show up the following year. Even the mayor came!

Over the past year, at Stone Church, we've been a bit crowded. Our choir loft has reached capacity, the church calendar is filled with events, nearby parking is hard to find on Sundays, coordinating space in the social hall has become more challenging ... and did you know we consume 18 large carafes of coffee every Sunday morning?! All this is to say that, like Jesus shoving off from the shoreline, we can certainly plan and coordinate events, but in the end, we will need to be flexible and gracious - especially on Sunday mornings.

Yes, when the scent of something good is blowing in the wind, God's people will start to show up - to eat, to worship, to learn, to be in fellowship with each other, and to experience God's love.

And yes, they'll come, even if it's crowded. - Ken Henry

ADULT STUDY PROVIDES GLIMPSES OF CAMPUS LIFE, EL SALVADOR, 1ST CENTURY

Join us for Adult Study, every Sunday at 11 am in the Fireside Room. As you can see, the classes are richly varied.

June 7: Rev. Geoff Browning, UCCM at Stanford University

Exciting things are happening at UCCM (United Campus Christian Ministry) at Stanford University. The Rev. Geoff Browning, UCCM Campus Minister and former intern at Stone Church, will tell us about his ministry on the Stanford campus.

His recent endeavors include:

- ☛ A public event with the Atheist student group
- ☛ Working with students who want to hold former National Security Adviser and Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice responsible for her actions
- ☛ Bread & Belonging fellowship, Taizé worship, and Easter Vigil
- ☛ Hosting the Eyes Wide Open Exhibit on campus

☛ In homage to C. S. Lewis, authoring letters to Wormwood about relevant issues in our culture, such as redemptive violence and Dr. Rice's return to campus.

June 14: Report on South Bay Sanctuary Covenant Trip to El Salvador

Chris Nilson and Katy Kondo will share what they saw and learned on their February delegation trip to El Salvador. When President-elect Mauricio Funes takes office in June, it will be the first peaceful and democratic transfer of power in memory. Enormous challenges lie ahead as an economy heavily dependent on the United States staggers; globalization makes self-reliance a longer reach; and a people who have suffered much loss try to heal. Still, having the will of the electorate followed offers hope.

Delegations offer a unique chance both to experience events at the highest levels (meeting with analysts, judges and even cabinet members) as well as to experience more everyday events through our partner community COO (Comunidad Octavio Ortiz). Delegation trips are open to anyone; Chris and Katy will share the perspective of the recently joined and also relate the experiences of veterans. - Chris Nilson

A BEAUTIFUL DAY FOR A HIKE!

From toddlers in strollers to 80-year-olds, all 62 Stone Church family and friends enjoyed the fine weather and basked in the sun while hiking, viewing wildflowers, and picnicking on April 25 at Rancho Cañada Del Oro Preserve.

Art Holtz and grandson Erik Holtz, who was earning credit toward a Scout community service badge, checked everyone's tires while they were walking, leaving notes indicating the air pressure of each tire and telling them how much gas could be saved simply by adding some air!

And Presbyterian Women provided delicious and much appreciated trail mix for everyone.

HEALTH MINISTRY GIVES GUIDANCE ON FLU

The H1N1 flu is still occurring in the US, and the CDC anticipates more hospitalizations from this virus in the coming months. To date, there have been 3,352 cases of H1N1, with 3 deaths reported, occurring in 45 states in the US, and some cases internationally.

Because this is a new virus, people have little to no immunity at this time. This flu virus is thought to be spread from contact with infected people via coughing or sneezing.

"The CDC continues to take aggressive action to respond to the outbreak," which includes prevention as well as treatment.

To prevent the spread of the virus the following is recommended:

- ☛ Cover nose and mouth when coughing or sneezing and dispose of used tissues promptly.
- ☛ Wash hands often. Alcohol-based hand sanitizers are also effective.
- ☛ Avoid touching eyes, mouth or nose.
- ☛ If you are ill, stay home from work or school. Call your physician if you suspect you have the H1N1 flu.

For up-to-date information, visit the CDC H1N1 flu website (www.cdc.gov/h1n1flu/).

Hand sanitizers have been placed at the end of each pew in the sanctuary for use in worship. Be aware and be healthy!

STONE WORKS BRINGS AWARENESS TO TORTURE, OFFERS FREE COOL CUISINE LUNCH

Torture: Still Work to be Done

Wouldn't you think that Jesus' followers would be the ones most adamantly opposed to torture? Sure. But a new poll reveals that Americans who most frequently attend church are those most likely to support the use of torture! They do so at a rate higher than the national average, and much higher than those who say they aren't religious.

In the context of President Barack Obama denouncing the Bush administration's use of torture to root out terrorism, the Pew Forum for Religion and Public Life found that 62% of white evangelicals said that torture can "sometimes" or "often" be justified.

This survey followed the recent release of Office of Legal Counsel memos that formerly authorized the CIA to use interrogation techniques that allowed slamming detainees against walls, slapping them, placing them in small boxes, restricting their diets, forced nudity, abdominal "slaps," water dousing, sleep deprivation of more than 48 hours, and waterboarding.

In response, the National Religious Coalition Against Torture has named June Torture Awareness Month. StoneWorks is offering bumper stickers, which state, "Torture Is Wrong" (free to those who pledge to use them). And look for the corresponding banner displayed at Stone during June.

Even though President Obama has put a halt to these "enhanced" techniques, we believe it is not enough to simply stop doing wrong. We must also acknowledge the full extent of what we have done and take steps to ensure that it never happens again. Support a non-partisan Commission of Inquiry to be tasked with reviewing interrogation policies and practices in the years after 2001, and making recommendations for how we can prevent the future use of torture.

Free "Cool Cuisine" Luncheon June 28, 11:30 am - 12:30 pm

Ever changed a light bulb to reduce your carbon footprint? How about changing your diet to do the same? After church on June 28, join Laura Stec, Bay Area chef and environmental advocate, and Eugene Cordero, professor at SJSU, as they discuss their book Cool Cuisine: Taking the Bite Out of Global Warming. We'll enjoy a light buffet of tasty dishes, with ingredients that don't come from far away or have a high carbon footprint, and learn more about how what we choose to eat has an impact on the environment.

Nursery care will be provided. Sponsored by StoneWorks, Presbyterian Women and the Membership & Evangelism Committee. All are welcome.

CLEAN WATER FOR ALL GOD'S CHILDREN

by Mary Jo Blazek,
Children's Ministry Coordinator

The Children's Subcommittee of the Christian Education Committee is busy planning this year's upcoming Vacation Bible School, Clean Water for all God's Children. In light of the recent threat of drought and water rationing, we decided to bring awareness to this issue. The theme will not only address our immediate water problems, but give our children an insight into water issues globally. Each day through crafts, games, stories, music and snacks, the children will gain an understanding of the statement, "Jesus Christ is the living water for our bodies and our souls." Every day we will also learn about a child from another country and the particular water challenges he or she faces.

Our mission project will be Playpumps International. This is a wonderful organization that provides villages with play structures, which when turned around by the children actually pump water for the village. I believe that this is a project our children can understand, and it will also reassure them of how very important we all are to each other.

For more about this group, look at their website (www.playpumps.org) especially in the section titled, The PlayPump System.

Vacation Bible School is for children in kindergarten through sixth grade. It runs June 22 through 26, from 9 am to 12 pm., with a family event on Sunday, June 28, during the worship service. The cost is $30 per child or $50 per family. All are welcome, so invite friends and neighbors.

I am currently looking for volunteers to staff the camp. There are many opportunities to be involved: storytellers, craft leaders, games, music, and helpers to guide the children through the day's activities. If needed, we will provide childcare for younger children of volunteers.

If you are interested or would like more information, please contact Mary Jo Blazek.

June is bustin' out all over! and after a rather cool spring we welcome it. (Just hope it doesn't get too hot.)

We are pleased to announce that we have granted two scholarships to attend the 2009 Churchwide Gathering in Louisville from July 11 to July 15.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN

Each participant is asked to bring a $20 gift card from Target, K-Mart, Home Depot or Kohl's to provide relief for victims of disasters. We are donating four cards, which will be sent via our attendees. If you wish to participate, talk to Diana Lim. We look forward to hearing reports from Sheri Cunningham and Diana when they return.

All of us are invited to the Annual Meeting on June 4 at the home of Jan Keifer from noon to about 2:30 pm.

Each of us is asked to bring a salad to share. The program will have nominations, election, and installation of leaders for 2009-2010 and revisions to our by-laws. One of Santa Clara's public health nurses will also be with us to accept donations of layette items to be provided to low-income new mothers.

Next, on June 7, Presbyterian Women in the Presbytery will have its annual meeting at Stone Church from 2 pm to 4 pm in the social hall. This, too, will include elections, reports, and conclude with Communion.

Dorothy Stevens reports, with gratitude, that our coupon donations are increasing. Emphasis this month is on Campbell's Soup-to-Go and Kleenex.

Fair Trade coffee, tea, and chocolate continue to be sold on the third Sunday of each month.

You may see that Bible Study with Marge is over until August 27, when we gear up for the 2009-2010 study. We shall miss seeing the Rev. Marge and hope she has a relaxing summer.

Stone's Men's Ministry includes mission worktrips, an interesting book group, and even flying trips with their own private pilots!

MEN'S MINISTRY

All Men's Ministry events are open to all men of the church. For more detail, please contact Parish Associate David McCreath.

Mission Allocations for Spring 2009

The Men's Ministry of Stone Church actively supports a variety of mission causes through enthusiastic participation and with the allocation of the funds they raise.

Through the Semi-annual Used Book Sale, the Crab Feed, and other similar means, the Men's Ministry raises funds for projects near and far. Allocations for Spring 2009 include:

- A grant to support Chris Duke's mission trip to India
- Stone Youth Mission Trip in June
- Zephyr Point and Westminster Woods, the two facilities where the men have annual work trips
- Cameron House, San Francisco
- A tithe to Stone Church for reduction of the building debt

The last item has been a tradition of Men's Ministry for several years.

A tithe (10%) of all fundraising projects is given back to the church to assist in reducing our building debt. Men's Ministry encourages other groups holding fundraising projects to also consider a tithe for debt relief.

In addition to these allocations, Men's Ministry supports three mission work trips each year: Fall and Spring trips to Westminster Woods and a longer Fall trip to Zephyr Point.

Men's Book Group Selects Books

The Stone Men's Book Group has chosen the following selections for summer and fall reading (there are no meetings in June or July):

- The Sound and the Fury by William Faulkner (August 17)
- Misquoting Jesus by Bart D. Ehrman (September 21)
- The Conscience of a Liberal by Paul Krugman (October 19)
- The Shack by William P. Young (November 16)

On December 7, the group will pick books for spring 2010. Meetings usually occur at 7:30 pm on the third Monday of the month. Different members host the discussions. All men of the church are welcome.

HENRIETTA PERDUE'S GIFT TO STONE CHURCH

We all understand the great abundance and blessing of God's gifts. Giving is a celebration of those gifts bestowed upon us. Over 60 years ago, the leaders of the Stone Church of Willow Glen sought a church that "... [has] a warm heart, [an] open mind, [and an] adventurous spirit ... [a church] that inquires and looks forward as well as backward."

For the past 35 years, Stone Church and the community of Willow Glen have been challenged and nurtured by the Henrietta Perdue Lecture Series, which enriches and expands our faith every year.

In April, I sat down with Hazel James, long-time member of Stone Church, to discover more about Henrietta Perdue's gifts to Stone Church. Hazel and Henrietta were good friends for many years, and their families were close - both families loved the ocean, and both families loved Stone Church.

It was through Henrietta that Stone Church women began to take an active interest in National Presbyterian Women. While not wanting to be known simply as "the minister's wife," Henrietta truly ministered to Stone Church. She was tall, blond and very dramatic. An Old Testament expert, she encouraged learning for every group in the church. In Hazel's own words, "I think Henrietta's true calling in life was Christian Education for all. She made it relevant and exciting ... because of her love for the Old Testament, she was able to give us a personal introduction while making the Old Testament come alive. Her classes for youth and adults at Stone Church made such an impact. From being the little church in Willow Glen, we became a part of the Christian worldwide family. I'm sure God would have told her, "Well done."

The money used to produce the Henrietta Perdue Lecture Series is not taken from our annual pledges. For over 30 years, ticket fees have enabled the Henrietta Perdue Lecture Series to continue, enriching Stone Church and the local community. Moneys received are reserved in a separate account to be used as seed money to underwrite future guest lecturers.

This is only one example of creative and effective long-term methods that can be used by members of Stone Church to perpetuate the memory of someone like Henrietta Perdue. Over the next months, the Planned Giving and Endowment Committee - Ruth McCreath, Ed Tablak, Bob James, Susan Bedolla, Mary-Stone Bowers, Gary Weiss and Judi Kaiser - will be providing more information to Stone Church members about effective ways of giving in order to provide financial support for the future life and mission of Stone Church. - Judi Kaiser

BARBARA BROWN TAYLOR NEXT HENRIETTA PERDUE LECTURER

Barbara Brown Taylor, Professor of Religion at Piedmont College, and author of acclaimed books on theology and spirituality, will be the next Henrietta Perdue Lecturer at Stone Church on October 23 and 24, 2009.

Rev. Taylor's topic will be The Balancing Act: Holy Rest, Good Work, Godly Play.

According to economist Gordon Dahl, "Most middle class Americans tend to worship their work, work at their play, and play at their worship." If you are one of those Americans, then you know something about the cost of scrambling these three vital ingredients of a balanced life. While the dominant culture is not much help sorting them out, the wisdom traditions of Judaism and Christianity offer practical help.

Rev. Taylor was named one of the 12 most effective preachers in the English-speaking world by Baylor University in 1996. She became Professor of Religion at Piedmont College in 1998 and also teaches spirituality at Columbia Theological Seminary. She has traveled the world in pursuit of sacred wisdom, finding most of what she needs in her backyard. She lives on a working farm in rural north Georgia with her husband, Ed. Her books include the critically acclaimed 2007 memoir Leaving Church: A Memoir of Faith and the follow-up work, An Altar in the World: A Geography of Faith, published in 2009.

More details, including registration forms, can be found at www.stonechurch.org. - Pat Magee

At its regular meeting on May 19, the Session worked on new ways of "being church." Ken talked about new member classes and acknowledged struggling to know how to do these. He is proposing one membership class per quarter, with the schedule published in advance, and with no make-up times - if one time is missed, the applicant waits until the next regularly scheduled class. These would probably include a lunch. Session members suggested using online information, or giving out copies of The Presbyterian Handbook, published by Geneva Press.

SESSION BEAT

Another idea is to invite two Stone Church returning college students to work in the summer of 2009 as youth counselors-in-training for 5 to 7 hours per week. The students would work with individuals; the idea is not to build a huge program. There would be supervision and help for the students; it would be a learning experience for them. This idea came out of the "Young Family Summit" held recently by the Christian Education Committee; it also came from Ken Henry who had a similar job as a college student.

The Session has continuing concerns about uses of space and time: lots of exciting events are great for the congregation, but can strain our limited facilities. Sunday morning, in particular, can bring competing needs for space. Emily Meacham is designated as the person to see with questions about calendaring, and she passed out copies of a form that she is asking all groups to use when they want to put an event on the calendar.

Don Foster reported that the Worship Committee has the dilemma of getting adequate copies of music for the increased number of choir members. Past purchases assumed 30, but with 10 more members the "old" music needs to be supplemented, and budget cuts make this difficult.

- Alice Thorn, Clerk of Session

Above: Stone Church had 27 walkers in the CROP Walk this year - the second largest group there! Lizanne Oliver recruited folks right up to the last minute, we had a delicious quick lunch, and Hilleguus Faber led us in pre-walk stretching. Come join us next year!

Below: The recent Deacons' Spring Luncheon was a wonderful event, full of entertainment (by the always entertaining Betty and Don D'Angelo), warm conversation, and delicious and plentiful food!

GIRL SCOUTS TO HOLD E-WASTE COLLECTION DRIVE

The Girl Scout Troop that meets at Stone Church is holding an e-Waste Collection Drive on Saturday, June 27, between 9 am and 3 pm, at the church.

Be sure to remove all precious objects from your e-waste before recycling it!

If you would like, you may also bring your e-Waste in earlier, on Sunday, June 14, or Sunday, June 21. A drop-off table will be on the Patio for collection.

Thank you for supporting this effort, which benefits both the Girls Scouts meeting in our facility and Stone Church.

STONE CHURCH PATIO SALE COMING IN JULY

Don't miss being part of the Stone Church Patio Sale, on Friday, July 17, from 4 to 8 pm, and Saturday, July 18, from 9 am to 3 pm.

There are so many ways that members and friends of Stone Church can help:

- Pre-sort donated items for the sale during the week of July 12-16, 9 am to 8 pm.
- Volunteer to staff a table, be a cashier, prepare snacks or lunch, or welcome Willow Glen residents to our wonderful church.
- Be one of the "hearty souls" who will set up or take down everything.
- Bring your truck to pick up items, or volunteer to load and unload trucks.

All hands are needed – sitting, standing, bending, or sorting – there's something for everyone to do for the sale.

And of course, donations are needed: household goods, yard equipment, sports equipment, toys, furniture, books, electronics, clothing, jewelry and accessories, antiques, second party gifts, priceless treasures, and the always popular baked goods.

Now's the time to do your spring cleaning. Let Stone benefit from your gently used items – and if you can't bring them in, we'll pick them up.

And did you know there will also be entertainment? face-painting! balloon art! clowns!

Bring your children, spouses, friends ... and be sure to bring your wallets! - Judi Kaiser
